Language Focus: Trust Allah

Story Time 🧑

There was a Prophet named Musa. ✨

Sometimes things were hard, but Musa trusted Allah. 💖

He knew Allah was with him. He knew Allah helps. He knew Allah is powerful. 💪

A young child heard this story and asked, "What did Musa do?"

His father 🧑 said,

"Musa trusted Allah." ✨

The child thought about times when something feels big or hard. Maybe a dark room 🌙. Maybe a new place 🏠. Maybe waiting for help.

Then he smiled a little and said, "Musa trusted Allah."

His father nodded. "Yes. And we can trust Allah too." 😊

The child felt calm 😌. He liked knowing that when something feels hard, we can remember Allah and trust Him.

"Musa trusted Allah." 🕌

Talk Together

- Who trusted Allah?
- Can we trust Allah too?
- When might we need to trust Allah?

Let's Say It!

"Musa trusted Allah."

Tiny Dua

HasbiAllah

or

Practice Today

When something feels a little hard, say:

"I trust Allah." 💖

Teacher/Parent Note:

Do not move into heavy narrative complexity (like the story of Pharaoh or the sea splitting). This is about trust as an emotional and spiritual anchor when a young child feels overwhelmed.
